You can find great Black Friday deals in the stores or online

Thanksgiving is right around the corner, followed quickly by Black Friday. Black Friday is the largest shopping day of the year. Stores open their doors as early as dinner time on Thanksgiving Day to showcase their many doorbuster sales.

With so many sales taking place, stores will be overflowing with people hoping to snag appliances, shoes, knick-knacks and more.

Whether you decide to brave the anxious mob of bargain shoppers on Black Friday or wait for Cyber Monday, there are always great deals to be found on either day.

Focus on online sales

Cyber Monday is the second wave of Black Friday, except everything takes place online. If you can't make it out to the store, or simply prefer not to, don't worry. While your favorite retail stores are putting their best bargains forward, many online sites will be doing the same.

Do your research

Decide what you want, find the best sale price and grab it before it's gone. If the deal is good enough, it may be worth standing in line for. Or, if you'd rather stay cozy after dinner, ask a friend who's going to grab it for you.

Protect yourself

Last, keep yourself and your accounts safe. Beware of online scams, don't click unknown links from your email, always shop on a secured wifi connection and most importantly, enjoy the holidays. 💰

Look ahead to 2019 while finishing 2018 strong

The merriment of the holiday season can also bring some breathing room into our lives. In the blink of an eye, 2019 will arrive, so take time to set defined financial goals for the coming year.

Confirm cost of living: Typically announced in October. Review your budget to account for changes in income and expenses.

Review your insurance coverage: Have coverage best suited for your health, life, cars, home, etc.

Perform a portfolio review: Work with your financial advisor to balance your portfolio where appropriate.

Heed donation deadlines: Remember deadlines for year-end gift and charitable contributions. Be sure to allow enough time to complete donations, keeping the new tax changes in mind.

Consider your consultants: You're likely to pick up tips around the holiday party punchbowl. No matter the source, take the cautious path and consult your advisor before acting.
