5 Tips to Make Paying Monthly Bills Easier

One of the most effective, worry-free ways to stay on top of your finances is to find a routine that helps you streamline your bill-paying process. Here are five tips to help make paying your monthly bills a breeze.

1. Create a monthly budget

A budget helps you anticipate how much money you have for your fixed expenses and how much you have to splurge with after.

2. Set up alerts

Setting up payment alerts and reminders is an effortless way to stay on top of upcoming due dates. Additionally, try using a bill reminder app for your smartphone to help you remember what's due.

3. Change due dates

Changing your monthly due dates to coincide with your pay periods can help you manage your money throughout the month.

4. Set money aside

Try to spread large expenses--like rent or a car payment--across more than one paycheck, if possible.

5. Automate expenses

Avoid forgetting to make your monthly payments by setting up automatic payments for fixed expenses. This may not be the best option for fluctuating expenses like utilities and credit cards.

Take a look at your budget and find ways to simplify your process. 💰

Take Advantage of Work Perks

Employee benefits are an important part of a total compensation package. Here are some important benefits that may be part of your package.

Helping You Retire

If your employer offers a match to your 401(k) contributions, be sure to contribute enough to take advantage of the entire match. If you receive a raise, consider adding an extra percent until you receive the maximum contribution allowed. Some employers offer employee stock programs or discounts on company stock.

Protecting Your Future

According to a report by the Social Security Administration, one in four people in their 20s working today will become disabled before retirement age. Your employer may offer disability or life insurance to help protect you when you need it most.

Caring for Your Health

Understand your health, dental and vision benefits when enrolling and review your choice at least annually or when you have a life event. Take advantage of Flexible Spending Accounts (FSAs), which can help with taxes. Some employers even offer discounts for gym memberships.

Just Ask

Take these steps to make sure you're maxing out your employer's benefits:

- Review your employee benefits at least annually.
- Reach out to your HR representative and ask if there are any commonly overlooked benefits.
- Meet with a financial advisor at TFCU Financial Advisors to learn how your employee benefits fit into your overall financial plan.
